My birthday present

Yesterday was my birthday. Dad gave me a birthday present. It was a box of puzzle. It was not just any puzzle, but my favourite puzzle. I had been waiting for so long, and it's finally here. My heart was burst with excitement.

I asked Dad if I could open the box and he said, "Of course!" Then we slowly opened it and we shouted with joy, "Wow!" My little brother gave me a suggestion, "Let's do it together!"

After a while, we had almost finished completing the puzzle.

However, a piece was missing! I was very sad at first but I told myself not to give up. Then we searched around the house.

Finally Dad saw something under the table so he picked it up. It's the missing piece! We all shouted, "Hooray!"
