If you owned a shop, what kind of shop would it be?

If I owned a shop, it would be a confectionery. I would collect and select different treats and sweets, such as canes, licorice, lollipops, marshmallows, fudge, mint candies, gummy bears and bubble gums.

Besides, I would hold candy-making workshops for kids because I want to let them know how to manufacture candies every Sunday. We would treat poor children with free candies. This would bring them joy and happiness.

I would also hold a competition to invite children to design new recipe of candies and the winner would have the chance to make their very own candies.
