Inviting Donald Trump to have dinner

If I can invite anyone in the world to have dinner at my home, I would invite Donald Trump, who is the current US president. It is because I thought he is the most successful and top politician in the world.

I would talk with him about the world's political issues. I would tell him that his remarks on September 7, 2018 are extremely shameful to the Chinese. At the same time, I hope the Chinese government could be fair to the US, same as the other countries, to stop the trade war between China and the US.

I would tell him that I strongly agree with his decision of North Korea's denuclearization. It was because nuclear weapons contains radiation which can bring us some illnesses or even permanent trauma. It would make a lot of damage to our Earth.

I would ask him to keep peace with China, no matter in trade or in diplomatic. Last but not least, I would have salad as dinner with Trump because he is too fat now. So he has to keep fit!
