An exciting hiking

Joe went on a hiking trip with his dad in the countryside last Sunday. They started hiking at one o'clock in the afternoon. After hiking for three hours, they still could not see their destination. Joe's dad knew that they got lost.

Suddenly, Joe was tripped over by a stone and twisted his ankle. Joe's dad decided to take a break for a moment. As they believed that they could finish the trip in two hours, they brought only a little food and water with them, they finished all the food but left some water because they did not know when they could arrive their destination.

After the break, Joe's ankle was better and they could start again. However, the sky grew darker and began to rain. They got all wet as they had not brought their umbrellas or raincoats. They felt sad because they were cold and hungry.

Luckily, they found a cave at the mountain side and hid there till the rain stopped. Then, they followed their coming route back to their starting point hurriedly.

It was nine o'clock in the evening when they were home with their hungry and tired bodies.

After this trip, Joe and his dad will bring the map and compass where ever they go hiking.
